One of the reasons Bay Area manufacturing companies are globally competitive is because of their high quality - and one of the important job classifications to ensure this competitiveness is quality control and quality assurance technicians (SOC 51-9061). With the growth of manufacturing in the Bay Area, companies are struggling to find qualified workers to fill these jobs. The BACCC labor market report (2013-16) for the Bay Region shows estimated openings of approximately 400 quality inspectors per year. Inspection and quality assurance are critical activities in manufacturing to ensure the high quality and success of local production facilities. Median hourly wage is $20 for inspectors. However, currently there are no QC or QA certificates or classes offered in the Bay Region community colleges -- so there is both a supply gap and a skills gap. BCC	Program - New	Social and Human Service Work Readiness	Certificate of Completion	Fall 2022	HUSV	2104.00	CTE programs face the unique challenge of meeting both vocational training requirements and academic requirements. This Certificate is purpose-designed to bridge those needs. The BCC campus sees first hand how important the weaving of these two strands is. The Social Work and Human Services program hires student-workers to run peer-to-peer support programming (Mental Health Ambassadors), and this Certificate meets the training needs for those students. Similarly, this course meets the CE training needs of employers who wish to hire graduates of academic programs for similar types of roles (Peer to Peer Support) in the community. The HUSV work-readiness non-credit certificate is designed to fill in a skills gap where CE programs and academic programs overlap. This program will provide students with industry-specific skills that demonstrate a “ready to work” status to employers.	12/9/2021	Only at BCC	Endorsed
BCC	Program - New	Social Work and Human Services	AA-T	Fall 2022	HUSV	2104.00	Career opportunities in Social Work and Human Services are expanding. BCC	Program - Updates	Peer Support Specialist Formerly: Social Work and Human Services Paraprofessional	CA	Fall 2022	HUSV	2104.00	With the passage of SB 803 services sites will be able to access reimbursement for services provided to clients by Peer Support Specialists (PSS). This will change the landscape of entry level employment in the field. Those who have a PSS certificate will be better positioned to attain entry level employment than those who do not. The bill goes into effect July 2022. The CA Dept of Mental Health Services developed a specific list of competencies for peer support specialist training. These competencies focus on communication skills, cultural competency, and include a specific list of core skills. The HUSV PSS certificate program was aligned with these specifications, which required updating the course offerings included in the program. Current labor market data for California reflects a high demand for employees, particularly in entry-level positions. This certificate better aligns with the job market than the previous version. Program update: Program Title Program Description Program Learning Outcomes The following courses have been removed: ANTHR 003; HLTED 001; HUSV 117; PSYCH 006 & 021; SOC 008, 013, 018; SOCSC 002. Laney	New Program	Quality Control	Certificate of Achievement	Spring 2022	MACH	0956.80	Quality Control is an important part of machining and machine technology and is a major contributor to the local economy. One of the reasons Bay Area manufacturing companies are globally competitive is because of their high quality - and one of the important job classifications to ensure this competitiveness is that of quality control (QC) and quality assurance (QA) technicians (51-9061). The Certificate of Achievement in Quality Control prepares students for a career in industry performing precision measurement operations using inspection tools and metrology equipment, including Coordinate Measuring Machines (CMMs). Our students are trained in print reading, dimensional metrology, geometric dimensioning and tolerancing, quality assurance, technical mathematics, and basic precision machining processes. We do this by interpreting engineering drawings and using industrial tools to inspect real parts. We emphasize current technology and industry standards (ASME Y15.5). Merritt	Program Deactivation	Illumina Hiseq DNA Sequencing	Certificate of Proficiency	Fall 2022	BIOSC	0430.00* - Biotechnology and Biomedical Technology	Why deactivate: 1) The course is designed for a specific machine (Illumina sequencer) that is no longer functional. 2) All relevant courses involved in the certificate are deactivated, except Biosc 030 which is now part of the Genomics Certificate .	Approved 11/18/2021		Endorsed
Merritt	Program Deactivation	Medical Genomics	Certificate of Achievement	Fall 2022	BIOSC	0430.00* - Biotechnology and Biomedical Technology	Justification for deactivation: 1) The certificate hasn't been used in 5 years, with many of the required courses being deactivated and no longer taught. Thus, the certificate itself is outdated. 2) The few courses that are being taught (such as Biosc 030 Genomics Theory) are being used in newer certificates. 3) Because this certificate is on the books, it is holding up the deactivation of the outdated courses we are trying to remove. 4) In addition, the 43 units required are too many for a certificate of this nature. It is not a certificate for state licensing like histotech or nursing, thus students do not qualify for a high paying job because of this certificate. If something like this is modernized or desired at Merritt, it should probably be an associates degree (with classes currently being taught).	Approved 11/18/2021		Endorsed
